

CONSTRUCTING
CENTRAL EUROPE

TOURISM
COMPETITIVENESS

EDITED BY
ALAN CLARKE

Contents

Introduction

Alan Clarke

Best in Show: Central Europe and Tourism Competitiveness 11

Part 1: Spatial Elements

Andris Klepers and Maija Rozīte

Administrative Borders as a Challenge in Spatial Aspects of Tourism
Competitiveness 23

Aušrinė Armaitienė and Ramūnas Povilanskas

The Tourismscape Of Palanga: A Seaside Resort and its Hinterland 33

Elisabete Serra, José Manuel Carvalho Vieira and Carlos Machado-Santos

Managing A Regional Brand Extension: Porto Douro Valley 51

Part 2: Cultural Elements

Gabriella Dancsecz

Successful Sport Event Organization in Central and Western-Europe 63

Ágnes Raffay, Katalin Lőrincz and Alan Clarke

The Benefits of DMO Membership for the Competitiveness of Cultural Attractions –
A Veszprém Case Study 77

Andrea Nemes

Developing business in the castle tourism market in Central and Eastern Europe in a competitive environment 95

Ramūnas Povilanskas and Aušrinė Armaitienė

Marketing Power of Actor-Networks – The Key To Tourism Competitiveness 107

Part 3: Economic Elements

Larry Dwyer and Peter Forsyth

Current Issues in Destination Price Competitiveness 123

Tobias Heldt

Financing recreational public goods for tourism development: Is there a case for voluntary contributions? 147

Volker Letzner

Commons Attractors and Cultural Landscape as Endangered Destination Elements 161

Marta Góralewicz-Drozdowska, Małgorzata Leśniak-Johann and Wojciech Maciejewski

The Travel and Tourism Competitiveness of Polish Voivodships in 2007 179

András Jancsik and Péter Mayer

The Network Aspects of Tourism Competitiveness 191

Part 4: Rural Elements

Csilla Raffai

Mapping contact networks in rural tourism in the framework of cultural analysis .211

Seppo K. Aho Sampo – the first Tourist Ice-Breaker – an example of break-through success in tourism competitiveness	221
James Miller Competitiveness in Rural Tourism: Quality and Cooperation as Keys to Success as Exemplified by Vulcano Ham	230
Emese Panyik and Carlos Costa Empowerment barriers as competitiveness indicators	249
Part 5: Core and Supporting Elements
Zoltán Raffay Changes in the competitiveness of the Hungarian tourism industry as an effect of the global economic crisis	268
László Árva and Erika Könyves Educational Tourism and Its Effects on Regional Economy and Destination Management.....	283
Kate Formadi and Peter Mayer Employment as a Factor of Value Creation in Tourism.....	299
Edit Komlósi Competitive Women, Women's Competitiveness in Hungarian Tourism: A Summary	313
Krisztina Priszinger and Alan Clarke Competitiveness as a Risk Factor in Hungarian Wellness Hotel Developments ..	323
Part 6: Innovations
Xuan Van Tran and F. Stephen Bridges Tourism and Crime in European Nations	335
Petra Gyurácz Németh, Zoltán Kovács and Lorna Uden Possible innovations in the management of hotels	347
Ágnes Raffay Just the ticket: transport as a competitive element in the touristic offer.....	361
Zafer Öter and Osman Nuri Özdoğan Marketing Information Systems: A Managerial Tool to Boost the Competitive-ness of Tourism Enterprises	373
Andrzej Tucki and Alan Clarke The use of Internet technology as a promotional tool of municipalities in the Lubelskie Voivodship.....	385
Osman Nuri Özdoğan and Zafer Öter Effective Use of Competitive Advantage as a Destination Management Tool: The Case of Antalya Hospitality Industry	395
Conclusions
Alan Clarke Central Europe and Tourism Competitive-ness: Lessons learned.....	417